WELCOME GREETING

The Multicongress-2017 Organizing Committee welcomes all mycologists and companions who wish to participate in so singular event and hopes all of them enjoy it friendly and experience the cultural heritage of our people, their history, customs, industry and crafts during these days. Also, to achieve the purpose of this meeting but depending of the weather, we wish to show this land's fungal richness.

Aims: Do a scientific mycological study of the Liebana County and its particular Mediterranean climate situated within the Atlantic Arc, also having the possibility of the study of coastal dunes once more, comprising subalpine to coastal environments.

CONGRESS LOCATION

Liebana County is a famous holiday destiny in Cantabria. A land surrounded by high mountains that presumes of landscape and possesses a mild climate.

Rural tourism is very extended, due to the well conserved authentic character of its villages.

Liebana is divided in various valleys; Val de Baro is the most populated and includes Fuente Dé mountain resort at its top side. There a cable goes up nearly one thousand meters until Mirador del Cable, a recommended visit if you want to feel Picos de Europa magnificence. Most hotels have preserved and are well adapted to local traditions.

Liebana is an excellent place to enjoy nature as it is located between Saja National Hunting Reserve and Picos de Europa National Park. This land is the habitat of scarce species as ibex (Rupicapra parva), golden eagle, wood grouse and bear. Oak, ilex and beech forests dominate. Rivers are abundant in trout.

CULTURE AND PILGRIMAGE

Liebana's artistic and historic heritage contains elements of great interest, as Mozarabe church of Lebeña, dated in the 10th century and the 11th century dated Romanesque monastery of Piasca. Lignum Crucis relic, conserved in Santo Toribio de Liebana monastery, constitutes the biggest portion of the Holy Cross. The former monastery was founded on top of Viorna Mountain in the 6th century, but nowadays church dates from the 13th century. Beato de Liebana, the author of "Commentary on the Apocalypse", lived here. The book is an excellent sample of medieval thought and considered an artistic jewel due to the multicoloured pictures that contains.

PROGRAMMED FORAYS

Forays will take place every day, starting on Sunday 29th October and ending on Friday 3th of November. A minimum of five forays each day are programmed, in order to minimize the number of participants in each foray (generally fewer than twenty five participants per foray). Next day scheduled forays will be displayed in the web Sociedad Micológica Cántabra (www.somican.com) as well as in the information board of Hotel Infantado (main hotel). Any participant may register (name, surname, car licence number and driver's telephone number) in the lists until a maximum number is reached.

The displacement will be done in particular cars, in order to have an easy and quick access to the programmed destinies (occupants completed cars is requested as we visit restricted areas).

On the other hand, participants will be properly informed on the forays: distance, estimated time, habitat, coordinates, altitude, difficulty and departure time.

Organizing committee may modify next day's programme depending of the weather forecast.
